

3 MIRADAS VINO DE PUEBLO

BODEGAS ALVEAR

D.O. MONTILLA-MORILES

History

Founded in 1729, Bodegas Alvear is one of the most prestigious and oldest family-run wineries in the world. It is the second oldest winery in Spain and the oldest in Andalucía. Focused on producing the finest wines in Andalucía from the Pedro Ximénez grape, the current 8th generation of the family upholds the tradition established by Diego de Alvear y Escalera several centuries ago.

Vineyard

A combination of plots between the Riofrío Alto and Cerro Macho estates. Located in the Sierra de Montilla, the Grand Cru of Montilla-Moriles, south of Córdoba, Spain.

Varietal

100% Pedro Ximénez

Winemaking

The Tres Miradas project is the latest collaboration between Bodegas Alvear & Envinata. It represents a goal of the Alvear family and Envinata to express the terroir that has been historically known as the Sierra de Montilla, with a winemaking approach that focuses more on the vineyard and less on the ageing process in the cellar. The Tres Miradas Vino de Pueblo, classified as a village wine in the Burgundian classification, is a selection of grapes from a variety of plots that are directly pressed without maceration and fermented in tinajas, traditional concrete amphora of 4800L. With Tres Miradas, they followed the Burgundian classification by producing one village wine, and three single vineyards or "crus."
